Is IRDO transitioning to FT Bliss in the near future? If so, when should we start establishing communications with FT Bliss? - Yes. IRDO's deployment operations have been transitioned to Ft. Bliss. Redeployment operations will transition no later than 31 January 2015. Deployment operations should contact Ft. Bliss immediately. Information on future plans of the program will be relayed to you directly if changes occur. Back to top

Are there other approved CRC locations for contractors? - All NON LOGCAP contracts are required to process through IRDO for validation. LOGCAP contracts have their own validation platform. Individual Military Augmentees are validated at Fort Bliss Texas. Back to top

Does IRDO have a notary office? - Yes. However, the service is limited to current service members, DoD personnel and, retirees only. We have off post locations where notary services are offered at cost. Back to top

Does IRDO have the ability to house K9s/Military Working Dogs? - Yes. We ask that you coordinate this with us two weeks in advance in order to confirm availability. During the winter (colder) season, our current facilities are not suitable for dogs. In most cases, companies take their dogs with them in off post hotels in order to ensure the animal's comfortable stay without worrying about extreme weather conditions. The closest hotels from IRDO are available in Edinburgh which is less than five miles away from Camp Atterbury's front gate. Back to top

REDEPLOYMENT FLIGHT - MILAIR

What happens upon arrival to Indianapolis International Airport? – Upon arrival, a redeployment team will be at the gate to receive incoming personnel. A shuttle bus will be provided to transport them back to Camp Atterbury. Transportation to HoR should be scheduled no sooner than 1800 on the day of out-processing. Back to top

PROCEDURES

What are the costs associated with IRDO? - None, as the IRDO mission is direct mission funded through FORSCOM, AMC, NETCOM, MEDCOM, and IMCOM. We provide customers billeting, food and, required transportation during their entire process. The MILAIR flight from Theater to Indianapolis International Airport is considered a chartered flight which does not carry an individual cost. The only costs that an individual should anticipate are travel costs (from IRDO to HoR) and other optional upgrades which aren't reimbursable such as hotel, rental cars, and paid transient housing. Back to top

Does everyone have to redeploy at IRDO or, can they turn in gear and CAC at different location? – DoD regulation requires personnel to redeploy at the same location that they processed through (if still operational) in order to properly complete and close out their deployment cycle. Exceptions are made on a case by case basis. Back to top

How many personnel can IRDO process? - IRDO currently has no limitation on the number of individuals processed for redeployment. Back to top

Can I turn in my gear and CAC at an Army base close to my home? - Any Active Duty Army base will accept Army gear, however to be compliant with Contractor and DoD redeployment policies, you are required to return to the CRC from where you deployed. Direct coordination on behalf of the individual and organization will have to be done if turned in anywhere else other than IRDO. Back to top

How long does it take to process through Camp Atterbury IRDO Redeployment? – For redeployment, it is typically a 24-48 hour processing time based on a Monday – Friday arrival time, with limited capabilities on specific holidays (Thanksgiving, Christmas) . Normal business arrival hours are Monday-Friday 0730-1400. Back to top

GEAR/EQUIPMENT

Can issued gear be returned via mail? - No. Any equipment/gear sent to IRDO immediately turns around and is shipped back to sender unless direct coordinated with Atterbury CIF for pick-up. Back to top

Can items be issued and/or returned by “third party” personnel? - This is only allowed on a case by case basis. If reason is deemed valid, the person who signed for the equipment will be responsible for it. The same applies to those who are receiving on behalf of an individual. The ultimate responsibility will be placed on the person signing for the gear. Our CIF personnel require “third party” issue or turn in to have a memorandum stating why the individual cannot turn in gear on their own. Additionally, LOA and full social are also required for proper issue and/or turn in. Back to top

Upon redeployment, if I don’t have some of my issued gear when I clear IRDO, what happens? - One of two things can happen. (1.) If the equipment was lost due to theft, lost baggage from airline, fire, etc. Your contracting officer can do a FLIPL which is an investigation of financial liability. You will need police reports, receipts, or any other documentation to prove your claim and not be responsible for lost or damaged items. The equipment will then be removed from your record after your claim is proven. (2.) Lost equipment or equipment that you do not have with you will result in a statement of charges. What this means is that you will have 30 days to gather the equipment and turn it in to your nearest Army Central Issuing Facility (CIF). If you cannot turn in the equipment, you can mail a certified check or money order in to the address that CIF provides you. The equipment will then be taken off of your clothing record.
